216-496-6087

The Fairmount Performing Arts Conservatory (FPAC) is a high-caliber theatre school for children and adults. Founded by Artistic Director Fred Sternfeld in 2004, FPAC's focus is on providing high-caliber conservatory style training that instills a love for the stage, and the presentation of theatrical productions by children, teens and adults. We offer programs that provide focused training for the novice as well as the serious theatre student. FPAC students who attend our summer programs receive quality performing arts training from a staff of theatre professionals, multiple performance opportunities, and a chance to experience the theatre scene in New York City. In addition to our youth classes and productions, FPAC launched its professional theater in 2009 with the presentation of The Odd Couple. Fairmount Performing Arts Conservatory programs foster teamwork, discipline, commitment and support – lessons that resonate in all areas of our student's lives.

MyCom - Shaker Heights

<http://www.mycomsouthshaker.org/about.html>

216-752-9292

MyCom is a youth movement that connects Greater Cleveland's youth in grades K-12 to positive experiences and caring adults they need to reach their full potential. It accomplishes this by providing out-of-school time enrichment activities and academic support, by helping young people through school and social transitions (i.e., home to kindergarten, elementary school to middle school, etc.), and by linking them to appropriate resources and opportunities in their own neighborhoods.
